November.
THE FAR purple mountains have snow on their tops; the farmer is chuckling over his full crop; there's a business, business, in the still air; the hunters are hunting around everywhere; the mountain stream's hidden with rusted oak leaves; rustle and rattle dry vines on the vines; the smoke of the bonfire is smelt in the land and thoughts of Thanksgiving bring smiles that are bland; the dun woods are calling, the mesa's a dream; you'll likely find ducks on most any old stream; the mornings are frosty and crisp and sparkling the western sky golden when evening is darkling; the moonlight is mystic over river and field, and the petty small grouches and worries are healed by a balm in the air and a vigorous tang; so we guess that we'll let Old Man Trouble go hang; 'tis something for any man long to remember. New Mexico sunshine about mid-November.

EX-POSTMASTER OF GLOWS CLEARED OF UGLY CHARGE

Jury in United States District Court Requires but Ten Minutes to Decide Upon Innocence of W. A. Davis.

It required less than ten minutes for a jury in the United States district court Saturday night to decide that William A. Davis, former postmaster of Clovis, N. M., was not guilty of the charge of embezzlement.

The case occupied the time of the court for almost the entire week and at no time was there any doubt of the result in the minds of those who had followed the case closely.

Davis was indicted for the embezzlement of the sum of $1,984 of post-office funds, the alleged offense occurring in October, 1932, when, according to the testimony of the defendant, the safe in the postoffice was robbed.

Inspector Ralph Smith of Denver was in Clovis at the time of the occurrence and was not satisfied as to the facts of the alleged robbery and insisted upon bringing the case to the attention of the grand jury.

It was not claimed by the prosecution that the government had been the loser in the transaction, since it was admitted that Davis had made good the entire sum claimed against him, paying the amount lost in the robbery, however, under protest.

It is understood that the prosecution was undertaken against the advice of the officers of the department of justice, but that the postoffice inspectors insisted upon the case being pushed up the theory that by putting Mr. Davis to the expense of defending a lawsuit they would serve notice on other postmasters to be more careful in the handling of postoffice funds.

During the trial an official connected with the postoffice department made the statement that almost every fourth-class postmaster in the state was technically guilty of a violation of the regulations covering the handling of funds, though directly innocent of any intent to defraud the government.

CHRISTIAN'S SINGING IS PLEASING

Solo by Gifted Basso at Congregational Church Yesterday Morning Reveals Ability of City's New Acquisition.

The audience in the First Congregational church yesterday morning was delighted and thrilled to hear a mastery solo by Mr. Thomas Christian, basso. It is gratifying, indeed, to music lovers to know that a real basso singer has come to town, and Mr. Christian, with his magnificent, resonant voice, will fill to overflowing a long-felt want. The selection was "The Lord's Prayer," by T. Austin Ball, which made a deep impression on the congregation. Every word was distinctly enunciated and the message of the composer interpreted. To find a combination of glorious voice, clear enunciation and correct, sympathetic interpretation is indeed rare, but the large audience found all these qualities in the singer.

DRUNKS AND VAGS FACE POLICE MAGISTRATE

Two drunks and two vags were before Judge Craig in police court this morning as the result of the Saturday night and Sunday round-up of the police. William Comiskey, who hails from New York City, pleaded guilty to vagrancy. He told the magistrate he was looking for work and was released. Harry Moore, also charged with vagrancy, pleaded not guilty and was remanded for hearing this afternoon at 5.

Pedro Montano and Daniel Moore pleaded guilty to being drunk. Pedro is an old offender and was fined $15, while Montano was let off with a $5 fine, which he paid.

"CASCARETS" ALWAYS STRAIGHTEN YOU UP

If Costive, Headachy, Bilious, Stomach Sour, Breathe Bad—Clean Your Liver and Bowels.

Get a 10-cent box now.
You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel worn out.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil?
Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular, and head clear for months. Don't forget the children: They love Cascarets because they taste good—never gripe or sicken.

MYSTERY OF PETTY BURGLARY SOLVED BY ARREST OF MEXICAN Arturo de la Huerta Recognized as Man Who Relieved Guest in Hotel Denver of Fifteen Dollars.

BELIEVED GUILTY OF LONG SERIES OF CRIMES

With the arrest of Arturo de la Huerta early this morning by Patrolman Joe Salazar, the police believe they have solved the mystery of the long series of petty burglaries and robberies of rooming house guests which troubled the officers during fair week.

Toward the close of the fair, Huerta, who claims to be a nephew of the Mexican dictator, was arrested as a vagrant and sent to the county jail for thirty days. With the arrest the robberies ceased, and Chief McMillin was convinced that he had the right man, although he was unable to fasten any of the crimes on the Mexican.

Saturday Huerta was released. In the afternoon he wandered over to the city police station and was given a small sum of money of which he was possessed at the time of his arrest and was warned to leave town with all convenient speed. Five watches of little value, which Huerta had when arrested, were retained by the chief who still hopes that their owners will reclaim them.

The Mexican failed to heed the warning to leave town and engaged a room at the Commercial hotel on South First street. According to the proprietress, he retired about 9 and remained in his room all night. There were no reports of robberies Saturday night.

Sunday night, however, the man was around town and evidently doing business. About midnight Landa Horsley, a guest at the hotel Denver, at Coal and Second, heard someone open his door. Horsley had been ill and the landlady had been looking after his wants, so he was not immediately alarmed when the door opened.

Looking up he saw a stranger in the act of placing his trousers on a chair.

"Thank you, pal," said the stranger, as he softly closed the door and beat it down the hall.

Horsley examined his trousers and discovered that $15.49 which was in one of the pockets had disappeared. He at once gave the alarm with the result that another guest of the house, Z. Hoffman, discovered that his watch was gone.

The police were notified and about two hours later, Huerta was picked up by Officer Salazar. Searched at the police station, the prisoner was found to have $18.80, a ten-dollar bill, a two-dollar bill and the balance of the cash in silver. The watch stolen from Hoffman was got found. This morning at the police station Horsley positively identified Huerta as the man who had thanked him for his cash.

The victim was also certain that the ten-dollar bill found on the prisoner was his.

Huerta was also identified by Pedro Gutierrez, a young man who lives at the Mount Alton rooming house on South Second street. Gutierrez told the police that he was awakened by a man attempting to effect an entrance into his room through the window. He started for the window and the intruder disappeared. Gutierrez again retired to bed, this time placing a revolver under his pillow. The youth had scarcely recovered from the surprise of the first visit when the intruder again appeared at the window and started to raise it. Gutierrez pulled his pistol and fired and the man disappeared and did not return. At the police station this morning Gutierrez was confident that Huerta was the man he shot at.
